

Abstract

The dismountable multi-position stander has a carriage, a body support assembly, and a mounting assembly detachably mounting the body support assembly onto the carriage in a single coupling direction. The mounting assembly has upper and lower mounting elements detachably engaging with each other in the coupling direction. The lower and upper mounting elements are respectively connected to the carriage and the body support assembly.